Cycles

Cycles . . . The seniors have completed the Collegiate cycle and must now forge ahead and start over again in an entirely new place: the "real world". Others will also start anew as they move even closer to the end of their prep school years. Faces change, but Collegiate life goes on. As the seniors graduate, a new kindergarten class begins its thirteen year journey. The cycles never end . . .

Mrs. Epes

On that first day of the most difficult year in high school, we faced our new English teacher with mixed feelings of uncertainty and doubt. But immediately that faceless stranger became our friend and ally, Mrs. Epes.

At the point of breaking underneath the piles of papers to write, books to read, biology chapters to decipher, we all came to realize that with Mrs. Epes, our complaints were met with sincere concern and caring. English class, although a demanding subject, became also the place where each of us could vent our frustrations and anger. Many times her reasonable approach to the problem persuaded us to abandon our rebellious attitudes.

How can we thank a teacher who, even if she did not have the time, would make time to guide each one of us individually through a difficult time? Staying after school, coming early and giving up lunch, to her, was all part of her job. How do we thank her for the extra inches, the extra steps, that she took to help us pass our Junior year?

As a token of our gratitude and deep appreciation of Mrs. Epes, we express, in a very small way, the great way in which she touched our lives. We, the Senior Girls, would like to dedicate the 1982 Torch to Mrs. Isota Epes.

Mrs. Griffin

During our stay at Collegiate, we have been through both trying and enjoyable times and we have encountered many different people on our journey. Some of these people have been forgettable, but many have left memorable impressions on our class. One of our teachers in the Upper School stands alone in our minds and will remain dear to us forever.

She affected our lives both inside and outside the classroom. Whether she was explaining the intricacies of the sex life of an angiosperm or bestowing a wide smile on us when we needed it most, she was there. She encouraged us, challenged us, joked around with us, and cared for us. All of us probably learned more in her class than in any other course we took.

Her enthusiasm and joviality were eagerly anticipated breaks from the daily routine at Collegiate. It was not uncommon for a senior to address her as "Mom". In truth, she was our parent away from home and she played a major role in helping us mature from Intermediate boys to college men. Her spirit and dedication are two examples of the things which have made Collegiate what it is today.

In gratitude for her devotion to our class, we, the senior boys of 1982, dedicate our Torch to Mrs. Ann Griffin. We love you, Mom.

Student Life

Extracurricular activities, and personal interests are all part of our day-to-day life at Collegiate. Students and teachers all have the opportunity to make this school more than just an academic institution; they have the chance to shed their classroom roles and to let their personalities emerge. Student life serves as a supplement to academics and athletics. Without it, the Collegiate cycle would be incomplete.

"Music Man"

Although the 1981 musical was plagued with delays and complications, it was performed excellently. All who saw it agreed that "Music Man" was hilarious and the singing was terrific. The Collegiate Chorus managed this amazing feat with only two short weeks of rehearsal.

"Music Man" was the story of a wise con-artist, played by John Remington who tried to swindle a small town by selling the citizens musical instruments which did not exist. He, of course, fell in love with the beautiful librarian, Kira Heizer, and mended his errant ways just in time for a happy ending. Other members of the cast were Bobby Shelly, Drew Daffron, Ann Daniel, Steve Miller, Claire Rosenblum, and Brent Hailes.

The musical was directed by Mr. Charles Cooke who said, "This was the best show in my thirteen years at Collegiate."

"Dirty Work at the Crossroads"

"Dirty Works at the Crossroads" was the first production of the 1981-1982 school year. It was also the first play directed by Mr. Thomas Hilterbrant, the new drama advisor.

The play, a roaring success, featured Wendy Joel, as Nellie Loveless, James Barnes, as her mother, Jeff Crater, as Adam Oakheart, Nellie's sweetheart, and Tom Scott, as the evil Munro Murgatroid (Boo! Hiss!). Other members of the cast were Terry Lorch, Kathy Landwher, Tim Stone, Felicia Wilhoite, Margaret Sweezy, Michelle Adams, Vicky Joynt and the "lovely and capable usherettes".

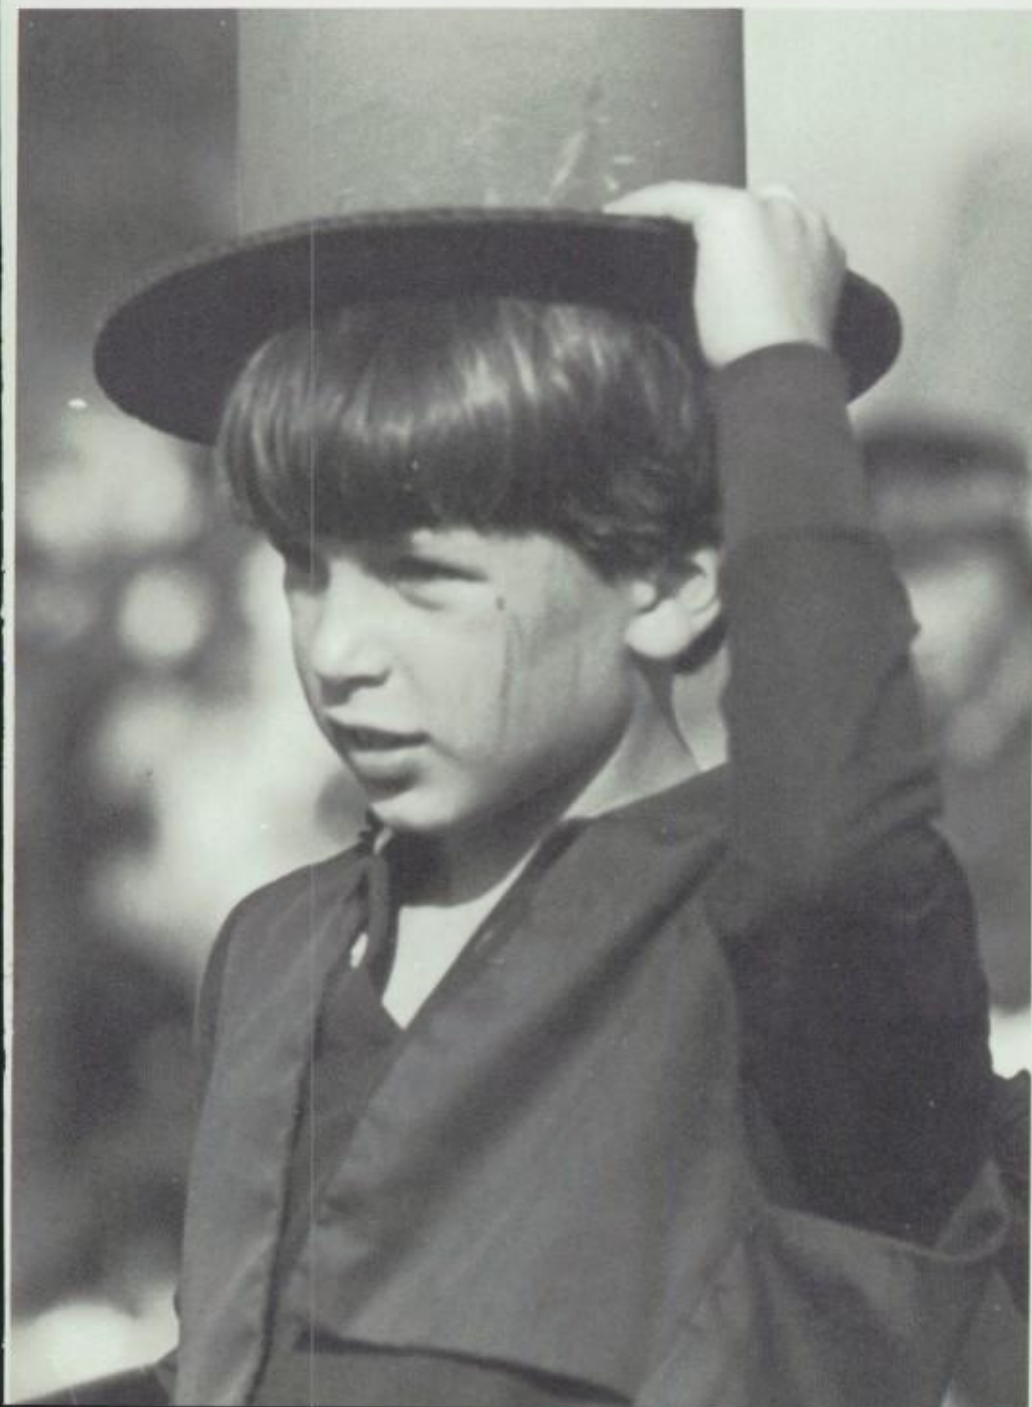

According to the Thespians, this play was more successful than all of last year's shows combined. Judging from audience responses, the student body thought so too.

Lower School

Fair Day

Luck was with the 1981 Village Green Fair. For once it was not disrupted by a sudden spring shower.

All of the old favorites were there: the midway, the hay-ride, the go-carts, and of course, the oyster bar, which this year was run by Mr. Ross Hotchkiss. In addition, there was a new activity at the fair called "Dunk the Teacher". Students were given the chance to get their favorite(?) teachers very wet by knocking them into a pool of cold water. Many students participated in the Car Bash where an old clunker, "The Trinity Fish", was completely destroyed. Others enjoyed the music provided by "Midnight Jam" and "Illusion".

The profits of the 1981 Village Green Fair totalled over $22,500, thanks to the support of students, faculty, and patrons.

Fleurs

It all started the morning of Registration Day. While the juniors slept, the senior class was busy painting Mickey Mouse and Mick Jagger on tins for their fleurs.

After breakfast at Sambo's, the next senior-fleur escapade was the Halloween party at Natalee Grigg's house. Upon leaving, the girls were greeted by hundreds of rolls of toilet paper and Henry Leibert. The Brunch was probably the most special event because all of the fleurs were juniors. February 3, when the juniors got their rings, and May Day were other highlights of 1981-1982.

Kira Heizer and her flower girl, Joy Nevels, became friends instantly when Joy answered Kira's request to be her fleur by saying, "maybe, if you come back in an hour."

May Day

Although rain on May Day is becoming as traditional as the day itself, it did nothing to dampen the 1981 May Day ceremony. At the first sign of rain, dedicated mothers hurriedly, yet skillfully, transformed the gym into a beautiful garden.

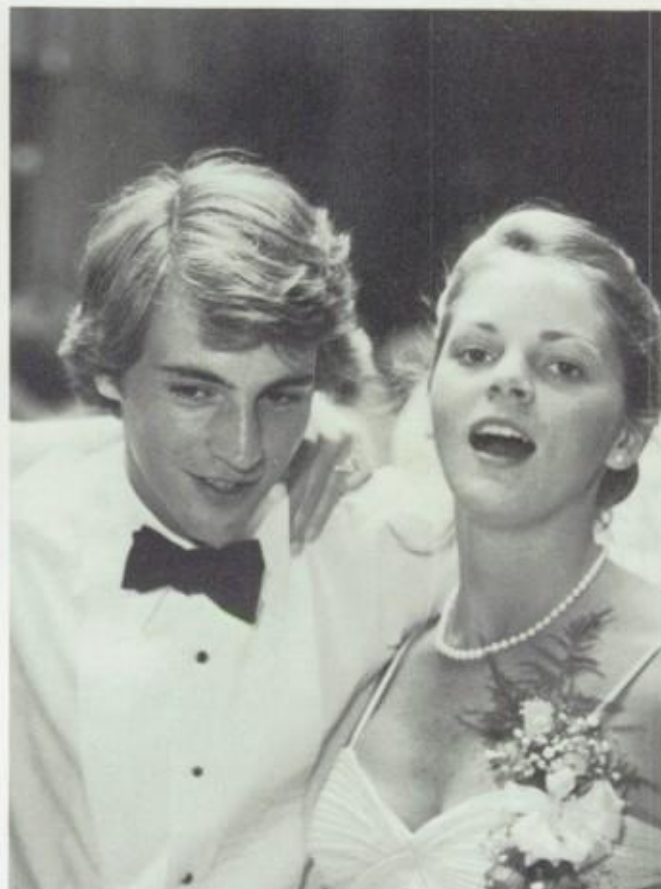

Smiling fleurs honored their seniors with bouquets in the senior-fleur procession. Then Austin Cary was crowned "Queen of the May" by her maid of honor, Cathy Nolley. Gymnasts entertained the new queen and her court with walk-overs and cart-wheels, and the giggling freshmen danced, as always, around the May Pole.

The ceremony drew to a close as the seniors and their fleurs recessed. The juniors and seniors barely had time for reminiscing as they rushed to a reception at Tricia Thompson's. The party, with dancing, a huge cake, and lots of good friends, ended this special day perfectly.

Southern Comfort

After four heated discussions, the juniors and seniors decided to have their dance on May 16. When the "Big Night" finally arrived, many students met at dinner parties before dancing to the music of "Cold Duck" in Memorial Hall. The juniors were excited to find that the theme of the dance was "Southern Comfort". As favors, the girls received straw fans on which the date and their initials were painted. Juniors Patricia Twohy and Hunter Woltz entertained the dancers by singing the Kenny Rogers hit, "The Coward of the County".

As the dance ended, students went to the many after-parties and breakfasts which did not end until two or three A.M. Donna Perry said that, "although the dance required a lot of work, it was worth it!"

Graduation

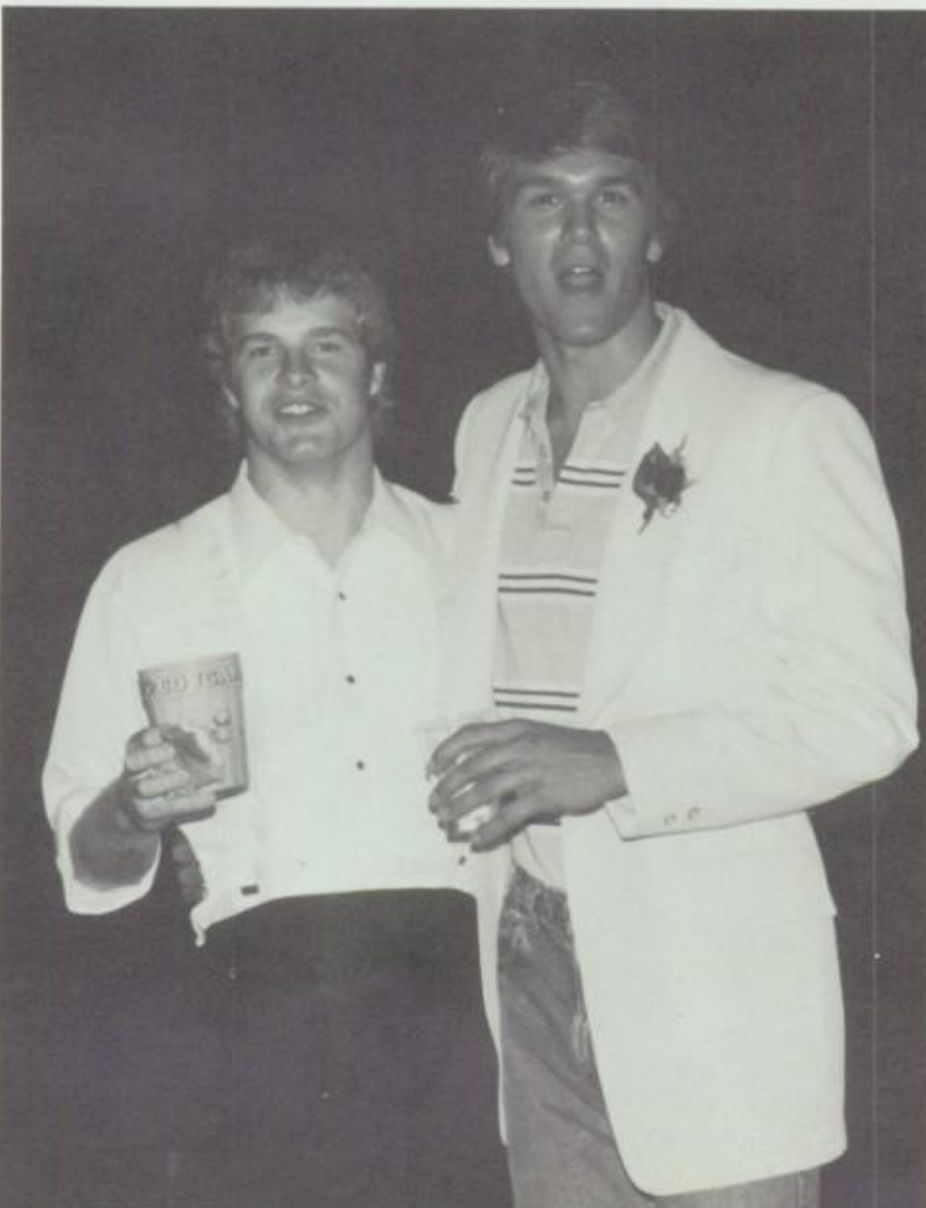

On June 4, 1981, the seniors officially became alumni. Due to rain, commencement exercises were held in Grove Avenue Baptist Church. Spirits were traditionally high, however, as the girls in long white dresses and the boys in dinner jackets received their diplomas.

Seniors, Tracy Sinnott and Doug Massey, spoke on "breaking the mold" and "life beyond Collegiate", respectively. The guest speaker was Mr. Guy Friddell, feature writer for the Richmond News Leader. Awards at the ceremony went to senior girls Caroline Cox, Tracy Sinnott, Sharon Gibson, Ellen Towell and Donna Perry, Kathleen Coleman and senior boys Mike Armstrong, John Shaia, Rodney Willet, Frank Cowan, Trib LaPrade and Doug Massey.

After commencement, parents, relatives, friends and faculty met at a reception which was held in the gymnasium of the church. Later that night graduates met at parties to reminisce about the day's events.

Summer

The summer of 1981 was a time of relaxation for students and faculty.

From the fifth to the twelfth of June many students flocked to the Virginia shore for the infamous "Beach Week". They enjoyed the awesome parties, celebrating the end of a hectic school year. Girls took the time to begin their tans, as the boys eagerly watched. After the week was over, students returned to reality by beginning summer jobs or preparing for trips abroad.

Mr. Powell Johann and Madame

Marcia Powell conducted a four week trip to Switzerland, France, and England. Seniors Catherine Maynard, Anne Overton, Terry Lorch, Catherine Laughon, Katie Leary, and Holly Schmidt participated in the Experiment in International Living. They experienced the culture of foreign countries by living with families abroad.

Most students have great memories of this summer, which everyone agrees passed too quickly.

Victory For All

Homecoming 1981 was a bright day for Collegiate. The festivities were sparked off by the bonfire on Friday night, where students gathered to roast the Barons. The next morning, cars and stands were decorated with colorful balloons and streamers by SCA members. At 1:45, the parade began. The cheerleaders traveled around the track in Phil Frederick's fire engine red truck. The princesses, Sally Wyatt, Holly Schmidt, Catherine Maynard, Patricia Twohy, Frannie Blanton and AFS student Denise dias de Castro, were driven to their seats in shiny-clean convertibles.

Of course, the highlight of the day was the football game against Blue Ridge. After a long, tough battle, the Cougars emerged victorious. The score was 14-13.

During half-time, Princess Catherine Maynard was crowned Homecoming Queen by Mr. Wallace Stettinius, Chairman of the Board.

After the game, students, alumnin and patrons met in Burke Hall to Congratulate Catherine and the Cougars.

The Homecoming Dance, that night, was the final event of the day. Although the band, "Sandcastle", did not arrive until 10:15, the dance was a success as students enjoyed talking about the Homecoming victories.

These events, along with others such as the "Run for the Fair" and the Alumni Lunch, made this Homecoming Unforgettable.

Pageant

Christmas is a very special time at Collegiate. The Girls School Pageant is one of the oldest and most cherished traditions of Christmas. This year Sophie White portrayed the Madonna and Kira Heizer was Joseph. The usual minor tragedies occurred, such as lost costumes and props. There were long practices with characters missing and only half of the glee club there to sing. Despite these mishaps, the hard work payed off and the production was a success.

The pageant was filled with its usual awe and wonder. As the Wise King, Anne Overton offered her gift, as the Soldier King, Buffy Scott wielded her sword, and as the Wealthy King, Teresa Alvis brought joy to the world, the audience once again felt that familiar Christmas spirit brought on the performance. This year's pageant was extraordinary because of the Seniors.

Lessons And Carols

Lessons and Carols has always been a Christmas tradition at Collegiate. Presented by the Intermediate boys, this joyful service combines the singing of Christmas carols and the reading of scripture lessons. Held at All Saints Church every year, Lessons and Carols kicks off the Collegiate Christmas season.

Yule Log

The Yule Log ceremony, organized by the Key Club, was the peak of the Boys School's Christmas festivities. The traditional assembly included scripture readings in French, Spanish, and Latin and caroling by the fifth and sixth grade chorus. Then the entire Boys School paraded to the front hall where Mr. William Reeves and senior Ross Hotchkiss lifted the huge log into the fireplace.

This year the Key Club added something new to the tradition by holding a dinner honoring Mr. Malcolm Pitt, Mr. William Reeves, and Mr. Gerald Shields. This steak dinner was Key Club's way of showing its appreciation to the administration.

Late Yule Log night, the club's sweethearts, Buffy Scott, Patricia Twohy, and Denise de Castro, gave each member his own personalized pair of boxers.

Ross Hotchkiss summed up the festivities when he said, "It was a phenomenal start to Christmas vacation".

Snow White

The junior girls were faced with the usual problems associated with organizing a successful Brunch: a leaky roof, unlearned songs, and disputes over the theme. All obstacles were resolved, however, and the Brunch of 1981, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarves", was executed perfectly. The girls were able to pull together and cooperate, if not in September, by Dress Rehearsal when everything fell together from the bunnies to the poison apple. The cast included Katherine Walker as Snow White and Polly Northen as the Prince.

Although they wanted to outdo past Brunches, the junior girls' main goal was to leave their seniors with precious memories of the "Enchanted Forest".

Extra Curricular

Organizations

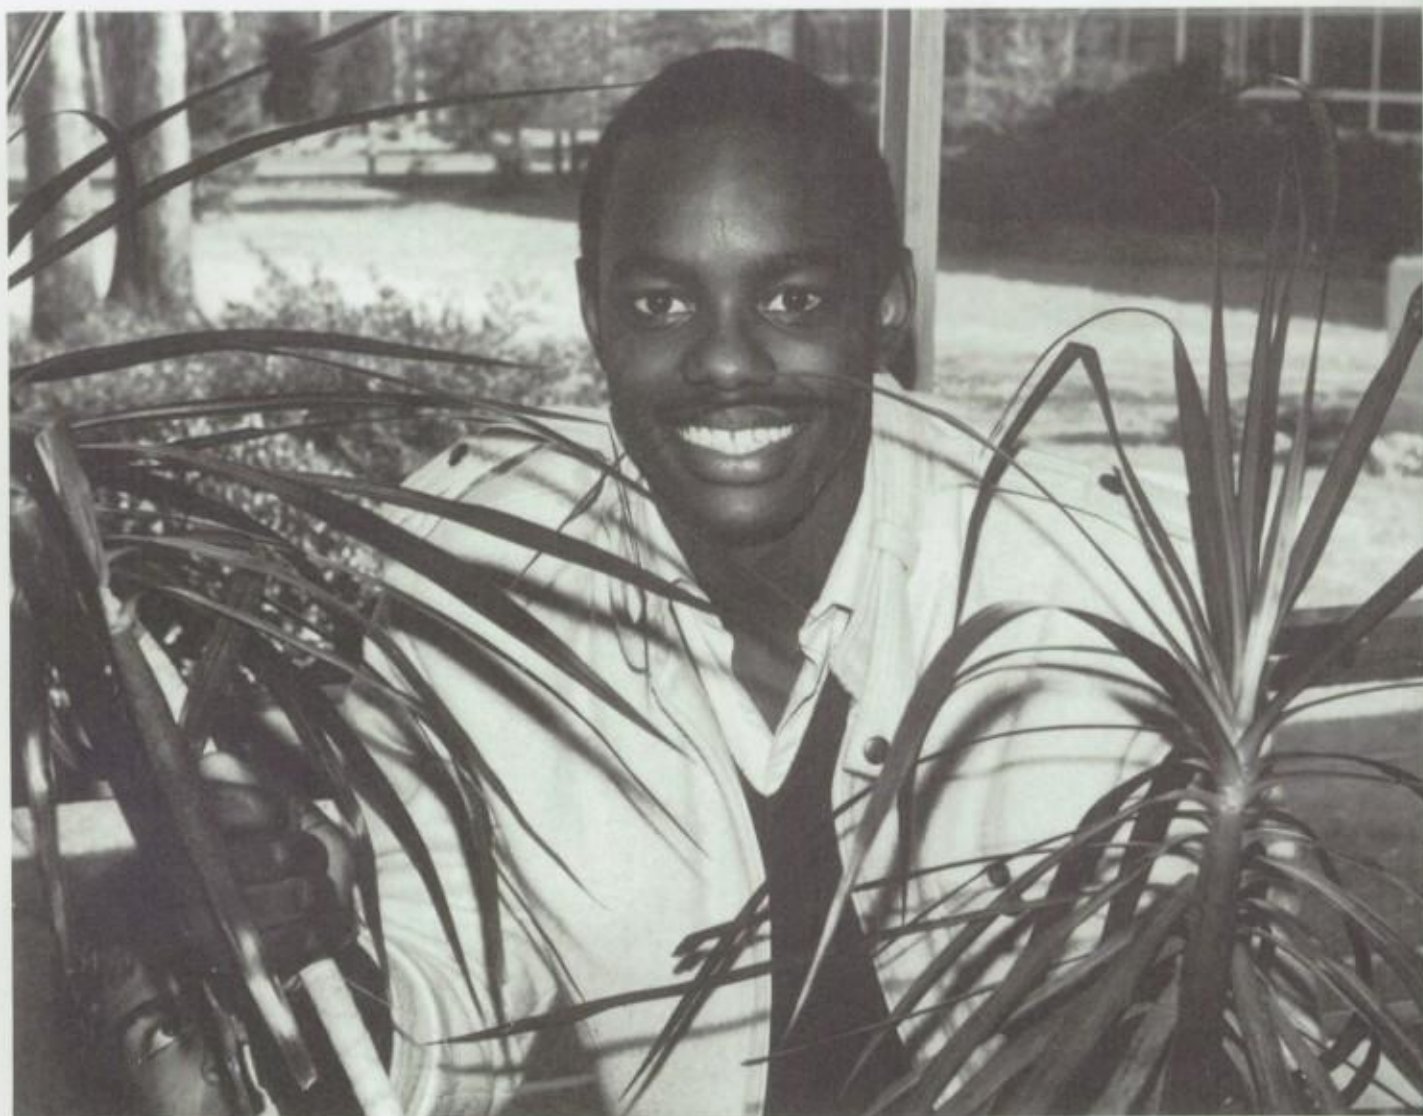

Organizations are an essential portion of the Collegiate cycle. The student Cooperative Association, Service Committee, and the Honor Council all help to keep the "wheels" turning at Collegiate and in the community.

Interact

The Interact Club, led by President Meade Edmonds, organized events during the year to aid the community and the school. In January, the Club sponsored a blood drive with the Richmond Metropolitan Blood Service. They also helped at the Thanksgiving Service and the Pageant, parking cars and handing out programs. This year's Interact Club was distinguished by greater participation among the membership. Although the size of the group was about average, a larger percentage of the membership shared in the group work and activity. President Meade Edmonds was pleased to observe a healthier working relationship with the Key Club and conveyed his best wishes for future healthy "interaction."

Key Club

Key Club's year started off with a bang. After a vicious battle with another Collegiate organization, Key Club won sweethearts, Patricia Twohy, Denise de Castro and Buffy Scott.

For their first service project, Key Club helped run a Sprite Booth at the International Food Festival. They also parked cars at the Thanksgiving Service and at the Pageant.

The Chicken Dinner and Talent Show was a big success this year thanks to the support of many active students. In December, Key Club upheld the Yule Log tradition by keeping the log burning all night.

Led by Ross Hotchkiss as President, Key Club managed to have a very successful year.

Upper SCA

The 1981 Upper School Student Cooperative Associations, led by Presidents Vint Myers and Catherine Laughon, worked together to reach their tough goals.

In one of their joint projects, they sold doughnuts and drinks at the Homecoming game and at the dance that night. Even though there were problems with the band at this dance, it was a great success. One SCA member stated, "the Homecoming Dance was especially rewarding because the money that was made cleared up last year's debt."

Early in the fall, the girls traveled to Camp Hanover for a leadership conference. While there, they discussed ways to create interest in different committees, revised some old rules, and took suggestions on how to improve student-faculty relationships.

The Girls School SCA also sponsored the Father-Daughter Dance, and sold carnations on Valentine's Day.

The boys also earned money through special projects and revised some of the Boys School rules. One of the most popular adjustments was the change in the winter dress code—no more coats and ties!!

1981 was a good year for both SCAs, because by working together they fulfilled their duty; they helped bridge the gap between the student body and the administration.

Middle SCA

The Middle School Student Cooperative Associations were led by Boys School President Duncan Owen and Girls School President Mary Margaret Chappell. Their faculty advisors were Mrs. Nancy Dunnivant and Mr. Frank Watkins.

The major duties of the 1981-1982 Boys School SCA were planning the flag pole schedule and improving faculty-student relationships.

The Girls School SCA was concerned with the problem of Boys and Girls School cooperation. They helped solve this problem by organizing an eighth grade social in the spring.

By working closely with both the faculty and the students, the SCA managed to affect many beneficial changes in the Middle School.

Exchange/Judicial Board

The Girls School Judicial Board was very busy this year. As the punitive committee, they administered and enforced the rules. Headed by Chairman Kira Heizer and Vice-Chairman Lisa Payne, this committee also organized study halls, Proctor Board, and set up afternoon detention "stay-ins".

Advisors, Miss Helen Tanner and Mrs. Brenda Matthews, heard many detention appeals and helped the board change some policies. One change required students at detention "stay-ins" to do school related work rather than homework. This policy gave some girls considerable experience re-shelving books in the library.

1981-1982 Judicial Board benefited from outstanding leadership in their busy and important work.

Wouldn't it be great to visit other schools and see how they function? Well, this is the chance that members of the Exchange Committee have each year. Headed by senior Cathy Ratcliffe, the Exchange Committee has contacted Freeman, Tucker, and Trinity in order to set up an exchange of students.

Cathy points out that the Exchange Committee has been successful saying, "We have made suggestions which have helped organizations like the SCA and the Curriculum Committee be more effective."

"Boogie At Midnight"

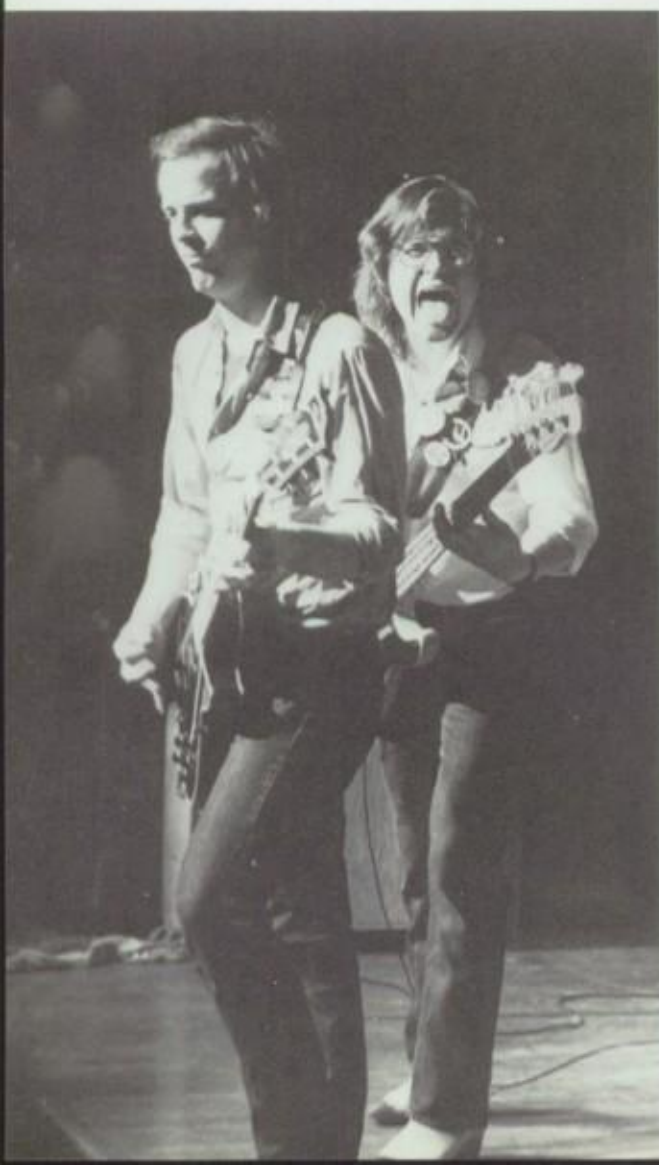

This year's Overtime Committee took unprecedented steps towards increasing attendance at their events. Although the first Overtime was traditional, the final two were quite different. The Skip Castro Band played at the second event, as the first live band ever at an Overtime. This event set an attendance record for Collegiate. 350 people packed into Memorial Hall to watch Mr. Kent Gay and Mrs. Julia Williams "boogie at midnight". The dance was truly a success. Soon after, The Offenders played at Collegiate. Bruce Olsen took the stage and excitement rose to an all time high.

The Committee was led by President Chris Shaia and was supervised by advisor, Mr. Charlie Blair. They managed to overcome many administrative obstacles and pull off three great dances.

Collegiate Committee

The Collegiate Committee, headed by Martha Robertson, was responsible for organizing social events at Collegiate. The committee began the year with a barbecue picnic with dancing to tapes. On May 1 they sponsored the Spring Dance, with music by "The Grandeurs". Their last function of the 1981-1982 school year was held in May. It was an informal dance on the tennis courts. The committee served ice cream and doughnuts to the tired dancers.

Each of these functions was a great success and will probably be held again next year.

Drama

"The Collegiate Players" have become quite professional this year under the supervision of their new director Mr. Thomas Hilterbrant. "He has inspired the greatest response to theatrics ever seen at Collegiate", according to junior Holly Reynolds.

The Drama Troop, for the first time, attended both state and regional Thespian conferences. In addition, Collegiate hosted a series of drama workshops.

This year, the Thespian Troop was led by President Tom Scott and Vice-President Wendy Joel. Under their leadership, the interest in the drama program flourished at Collegiate.

Glee Club/Chorus

This year's Glee Club and Chorus had a busy year. They sang at special services throughout the year. Highlights included Graduation, the Girls School Christmas Pageant, and the musical in the spring. All in all, according to Miss Archbell and Mr. Cooken Collegiate voices get better every year.

Honor Council

Honor Council in both schools was very active this year. The Boys School had less cases than ever before and the Girls School was more organized and able to deal with its few cases successfully.

Under President Slaughter Fitzhugh the boys Honor Council was very proud of their year. With less cases than ever, the council had a pleasantly calm year. Much of Honor Council's effectiveness in the Girls School was due to Chairman Catherine Maynard. Throughout the year new honor programs were discussed and considered, but the students did not seem to need the suggested honor experiments. With the newly-tapped National Honor Society senior members the Honor Council finished a good year with a more active role than ever before.

Honor Societies

The National Honor Society, an organization which bases membership on the four qualities of service, loyalty, character, and scholarship, tapped 16 new members this year: all seniors. Since Collegiate is changing to another honor society next year, only seniors were eligible for membership. Guest lecturer, Dr. Robert Kellogg was the speaker at the tapping.

Quill and Scroll, which selects membership for journalistic ability and scholarship, tapped 16 new members from both junior and senior classes. Channel 12 anchorman Mr. Gene Cox was the speaker.

AFS Committee

The AFS Committee worked to make this year's foreign students, Denise de Castro from Brazil and Jean Christophe Putero from France, more comfortable at Collegiate. Headed by Anne Overton and John Haisley, the committee started the year with an AFS dinner at Natlee Grigg's and the movie "Foul Play" in the Gumenick Media Center. In the winter, they sponsored the basketball game between the XL-102 disc jockeys and the Collegiate teachers. The committee also organized a booth at the Village Green Fair called the "International Booth".

Denise commented that, "without the AFS people, I would not have adjusted to the American life-style so easily."

Service Committee

Under Chairman Marya Eckberg, the Service Committee organized community oriented projects. They taught English to refugees at a local resettlement center. They also collected 1200 canned goods in the Thanksgiving drive with Senior Study as the prize for the winning class. Other projects included a magazine drive for Bon Air Learning Center and tray favors for area nursing homes at Halloween, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. One of their most successful projects was the annual Christmas toy drive for needy children in Henrico County.

Under Marya's supervision, this committee has accomplished its goal of increased community involvement at Collegiate.

Committees

The Girls Athletic Council, headed by Anne Overton, was full of old and new ideas this year. The elected Green and Gold Captains from each class assisted Anne with the traditional Athletic Council duties of decorating the Athletic Bulletin Board, announcing games, and organizing the Green and Gold games and Spirit Day. One new idea that turned out to be a real money-maker was the sale of yellow "huggies" or "coolies" with a green Cougar emblem. These were favorites at Parties as well as around school. One event of the year that Anne hopes will not become traditional was the mysterious disappearance of part of the treasury.

The Joint Chapel Committee was responsible for organizing all Tuesday and Thursday assemblies. The task of obtaining meaningful and interesting speakers kept them busy through the year.

The group of Upper School Students was led by advisors Dr. Roger Hailes and Dr. Greg Hall.

Varsity Video/XXX

The Varsity Video Group was in charge of all audio-visual equipment at Collegiate. They prepared movies for alumni to view at reunions and taped boy's and girl's athletic events. They also recorded teachers in their classrooms. The teacher would use his or her tape to evaluate the effectiveness of the class.

The group met every Friday morning and was advised by Mrs. Kay Remick.

Varsity Video is becoming an integral part of the Collegiate community of the eighties.

At the end of last year, Anne Overton, Katherine Seaman, and Hunter Woltz were chosen to learn "The Secret" and to carry on the tradition of XXX. In September, three more were picked to complete the "secret six": Kira Heizer, Sophie Ann White, and Spencer Featherston. Senior boys, Jon Prevatt and Bubba Paris were chosen as sweethearts.

According to Hunter Woltz, "XXX is #1", the rest is unknown

Junior Council

Being a Junior Council member is something that fourth graders hope for until the day that the ballots are cast. Only four, two boys and two girls, are chosen from each Primary IV class and it is an honor to be elected. The chief concerns of the Junior Council is to "make sure nobody fights, watch out for first and second graders, open doors for the fourth graders every morning, and pick up balls on the playground".

Every "JC", whether he is a crossing guard or a flag raiser, takes his responsibility seriously and helps to minimize Lower School disruption.

Mary Carter Gibbs summed up her position on the Council when she commented, "Yea, it was fun, we helped the school alot."

Victory of Battle of Brains

The 1982 Battle of the Brains team won a resounding victory over King George High School in the first match of the season. A 360 point spread is nothing to laugh about.

Coached by Mr. Charles Wiltshire and Mrs. Jeanette Welsh, the team consisted of Seniors Mitch Harris and Terry Lorch and Juniors John Rowe and Margaret Swezey. Charley Scher served as alternate.

According to John, "We don't have the same cohesiveness that we did last year, but we're just as good."

Flame

The main objective of the 1981-1982 Flame staff, headed by editors Terry Lorch, Wayne Flame, Mitch Harris, was to receive artwork, short stories, and poems from a diversified group of students. To support their publication, the Flame staff sold doughnuts and cookies.

When deadlines arrived, the frantic staff flocked to Miss Sally Schriber's home to make last minute adjustments. When the Flame finally came, it brightened the days of many Collegiate readers.

Top: Flame editors, Terry, Wayne, and Mitch are amazed at Collegiate's hidden talent. Bottom: Flame Staff: First Row: T. Scott, F. Wilhoite, M. Harris, W. Heyward, W. Joel, A. Beauchamp. Second Row: T. Lorch, K. Landwher, N. Firey, M. Swezey, J. Nevels, M. Bland.

People

As we move through the life cycle, we meet interesting and talented people. Many different people are part of life at Collegiate: administrators, faculty, staff, and most importantly students. Without the devotion of these people, Collegiate would cease to exist. We will become involved with others in the future, but we will always remember the people that played such an important role in making 1981-1982 the great year that it was.

Seniors

When asked about being the oldest students at Collegiate, the general consensus of the senior class was, "We finally made it!" Although bogged down with searching for just the right college and trying to survive Dr. Hailes' and Mr. Livy's "impossible" tests, the seniors managed to remain an extremely unified class. Underclassmen have described them as a group of crazy and unique people that show a lot of leadership and are a lot of fun.

When asked about themselves, the seniors brought up: The Beach (76th street and Mai Kai) ... parties ... Shockoe ... Robin Hood ... Elvira ... The hidden TV in senior study ... college visits ... Spring Break ... dances ... becoming legal. To sum it up, the class of 1982 was a great bunch and will definitely not be forgotten.

Katherine has that all knowing look. Duff and Haisley get their winter thrills. Frannie Blanton with her first love, Jada. Harry Ganteaume gets his kicks. Cathy just loves to be like Henry Liebert. Claire Rosenblum and Kira Heizer dance their way to the top. Stephen Riopelle clears his sinuses. Prepared for duty. Hey bartender: a Billy Tiller on the rocks. You're such a Cool deck. "Smile for the camera!" sneers Linda. Two of the offenders. David Shannon, Collegiate's Cassanova

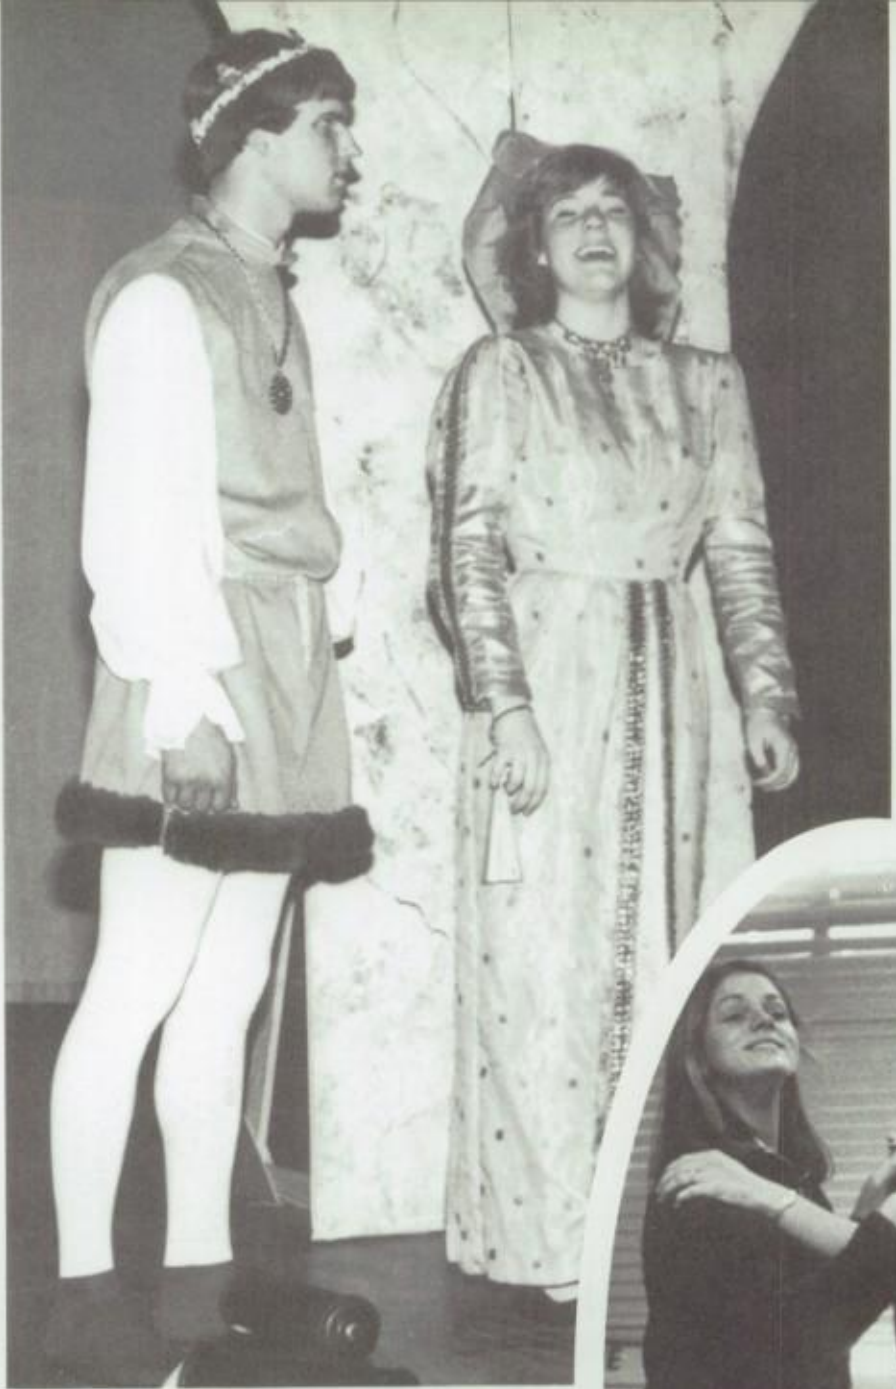

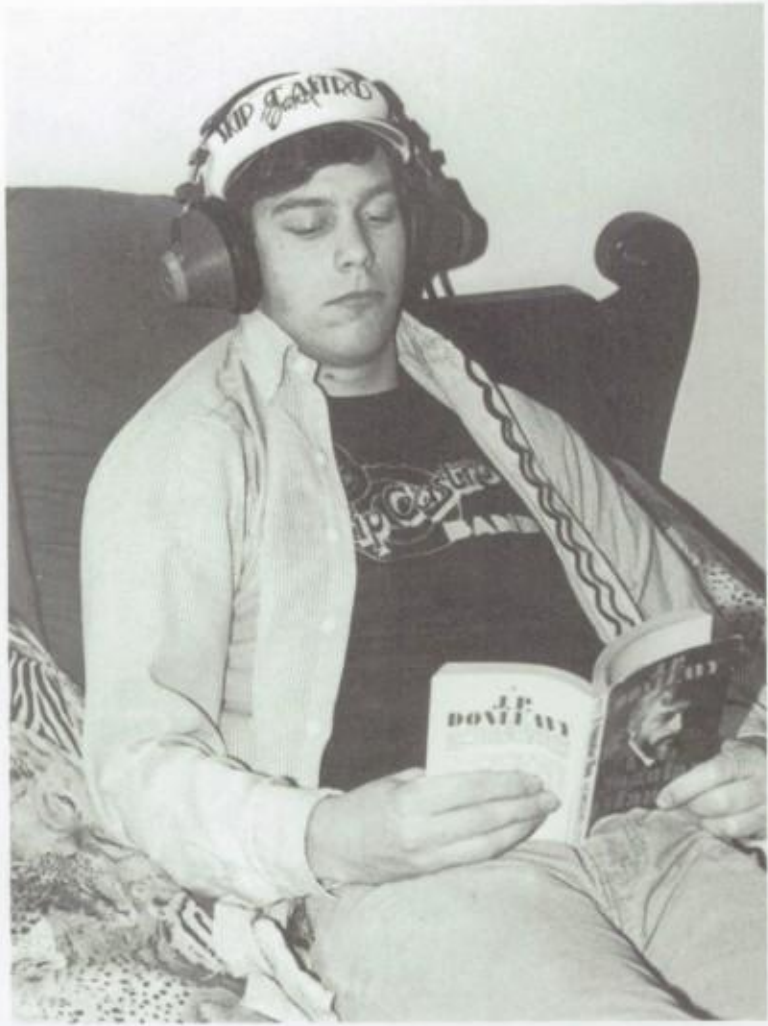

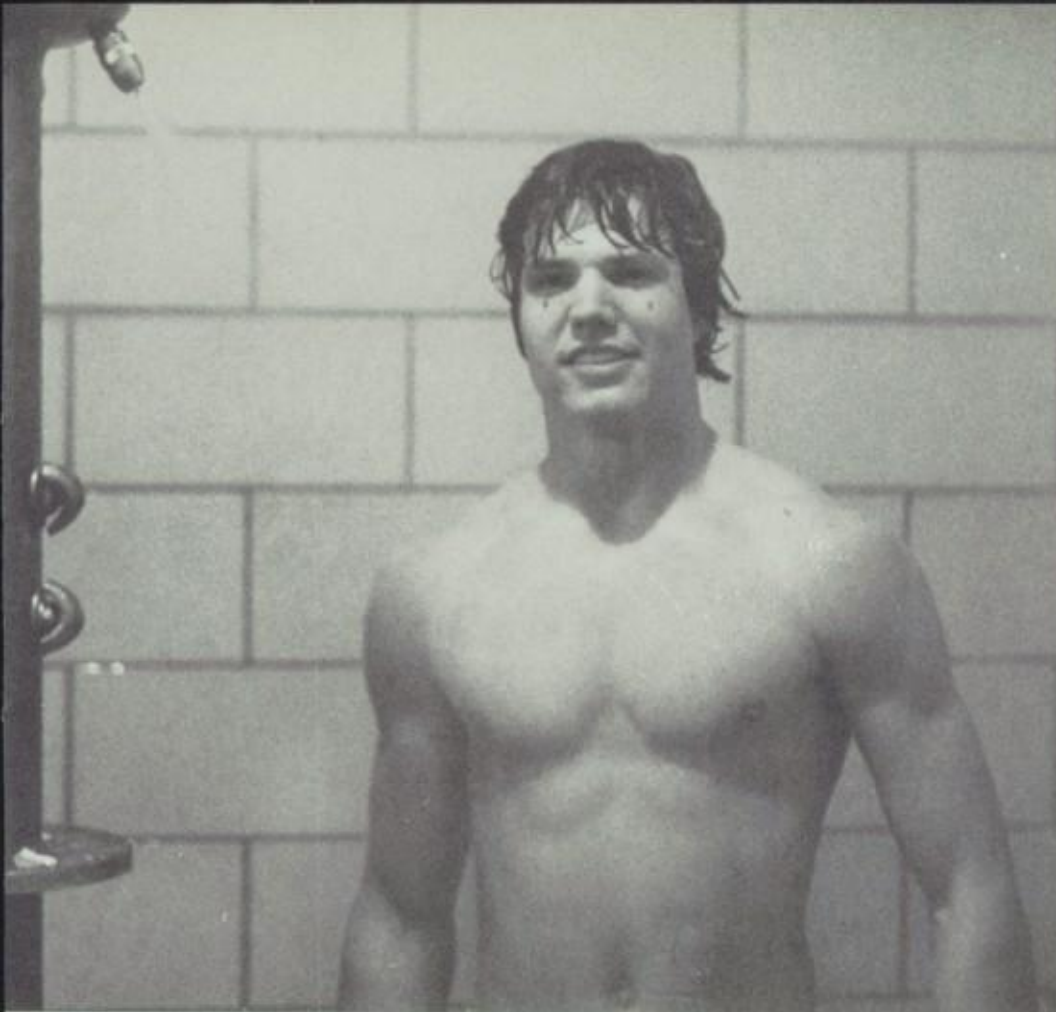

Jon is Lola's prototype. Erica: he loves me, he loves me not. Slaughter and John survey for the new field house. Scott and Catherine: The Outlaws. Collegiate's Morgan Fairchild. Jamie goes for a dip at the Beach. Bobby, is that really you?

Marya and Louise head East. Ross and Buffy: Silly Bumpkin. Stanton, that's not Kosher! Linda and Jackie don't have FAITH in Patricia and Chris.

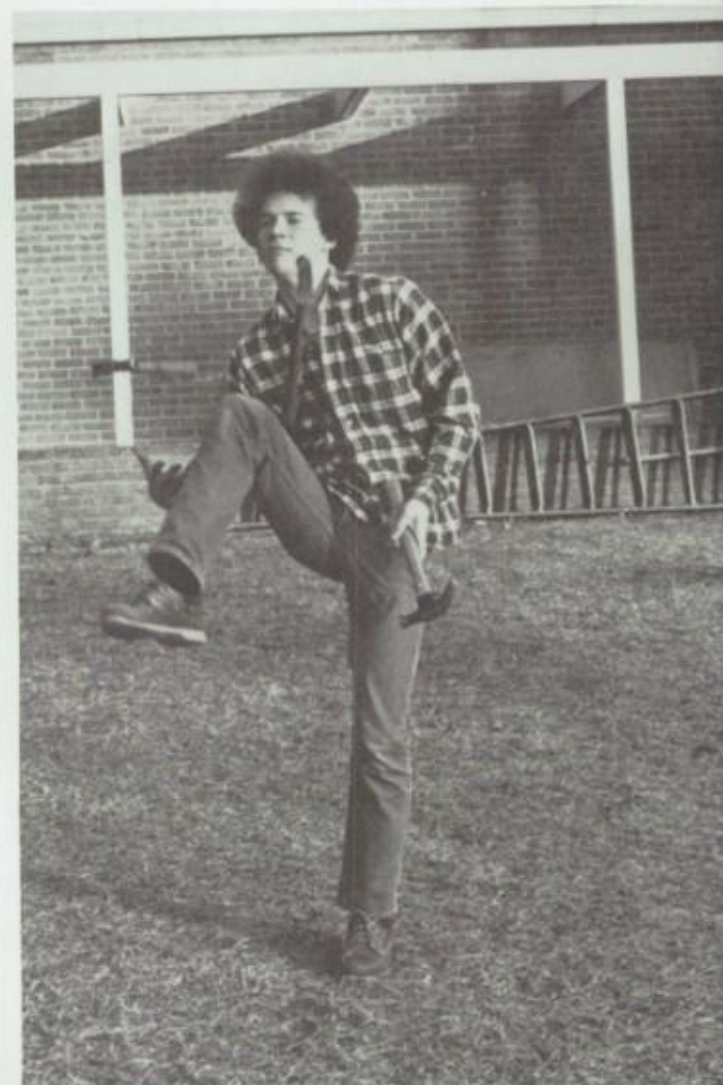

Wayne is obviously not biased towards any rock band. Steve looks right for the part of Dauntless The Drab. Johnny is an Ivory body. Farrow and Teresa bridge the generation gap. Tim Dunn, Collegiate's Evil Kenieval. Meade spies Col. Kurtz. See Anne and Hunter sit in a chair . . . Catherine is happy with her Lonely Heart's Club date, but Katie is not so sure. She'll be riding Wildfire . . . Phil knows his A,B,C's. Tom moonlights as one of Santa's elves.

Michele and Emily enjoy the long-awaited Senior Study. David: No! You are not Al McGuire! Amy displays her equestrian skill. Kenny didn't want his picture captioned. Vint splits the seam. Anne and her baby Boozer. Martha and Spencer try to smile after a cafeteria food fight. Sher and her artistic winter creation. Hunter loves the new-look Ho. Is it Tricia and Jeff or Malibu Barbie and Ken?

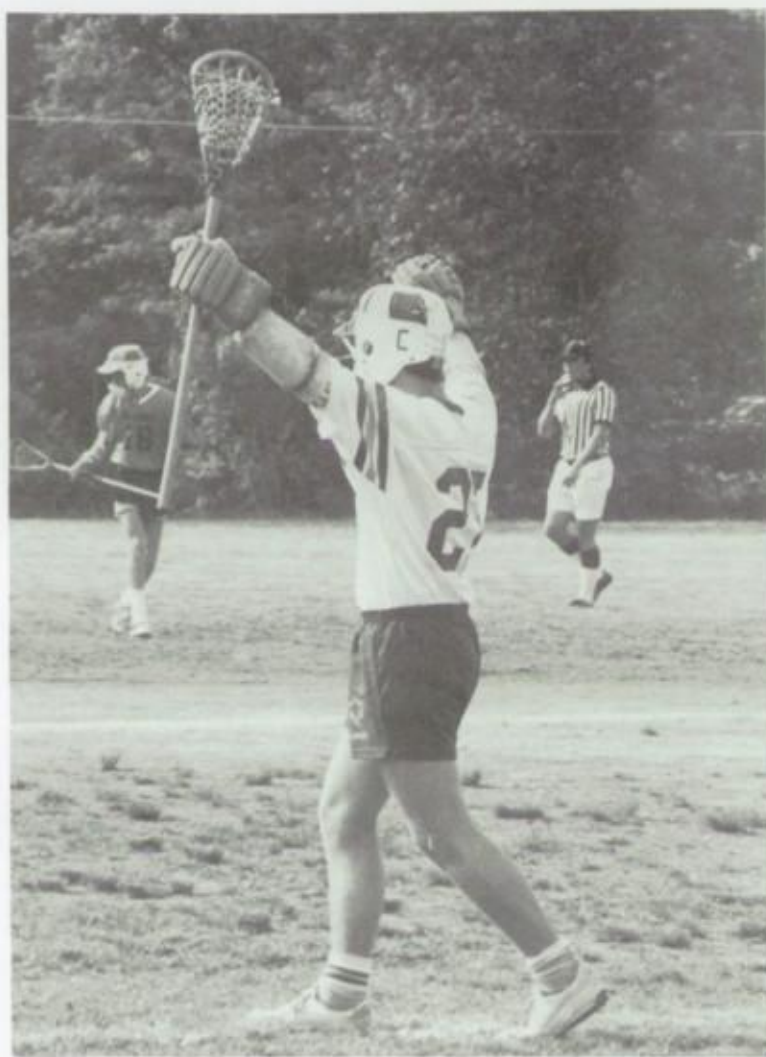

Mark is careful not to mess up his Danny Terio Hairdo. Terry says "Roll over Beethoven." Parker takes another road trip. Mitch knows that juggling is catching. Jeff says, "Refreshments, Mr. Pitt?" Russ is on fire.

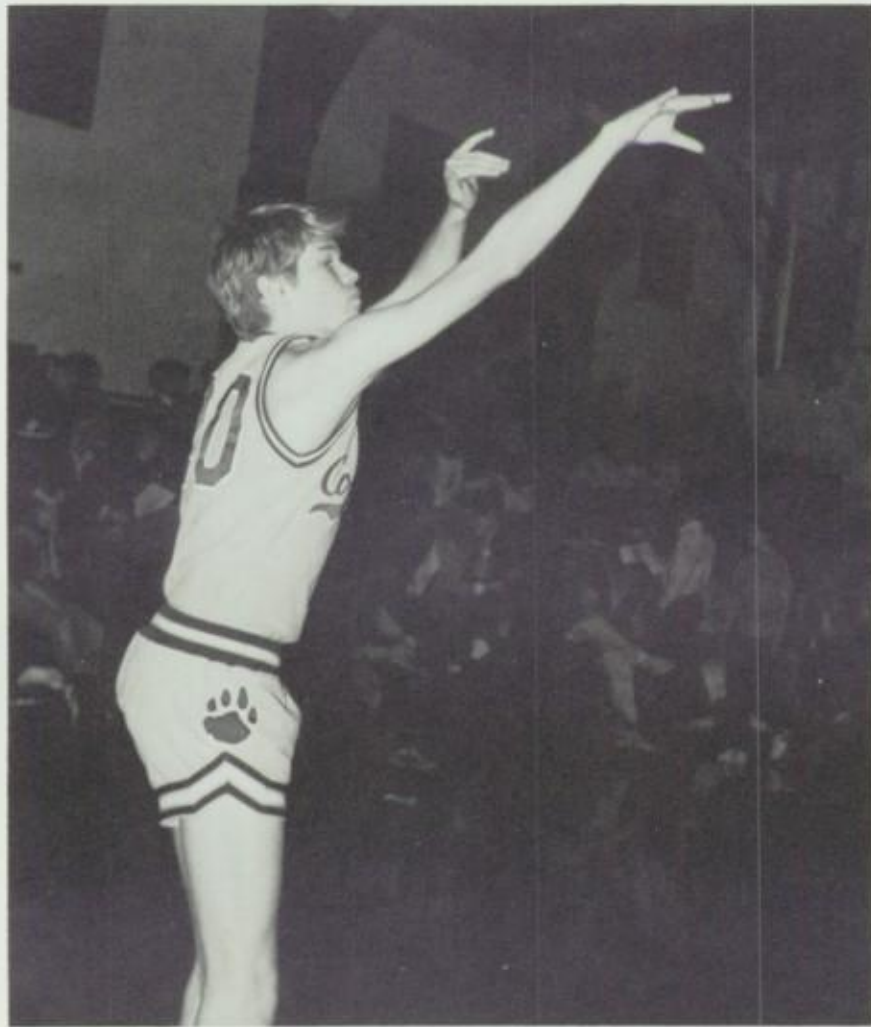

Chris dives for another save. Dos does dose it. Chris is destined to be ahead. Lynne and Cathy smile merrily after a couple. Lee rescues another trophy.

Collegiate's athletic supporters. Tim displays his prize ducks. Jimmy scores another Cougar goal. Terry and Tim relax on the Chesapeake Bay. Haha. Sophie is just another brick in the wall. Denise leans against an American tree. Brad relaxes with a cold one. Come sail with me. Go! Go! Jo! Jo! Sally, we can tell you are on Codine. How Silly! A winter beach picnic.

Matt cards Jimmy, Thad, William, and Slaughter. Mr. Kelly offers Bill a Lifesaver. Jim devises yet another insult. Gordon and Jimmy as Collegiate's American Gothic. We know Scott is at home. Jean-Christophe seeks shelter. Kira misses the swamps. Bubba and his buddy. Sarah quenches her thirst. Eric has hardly changed. Holly and Sally deprive Katie of the Heavenly Hash.

Juniors

The class of 1983 has been called everything from a "bunch of nuts" to "one of the brightest classes I've ever taught." Nonetheless, the juniors can be considered one of the closest classes in the Upper School. They love to party, but they know when to draw the line in regard to studying.

Highlights of the Junior Girls' year included a successful Brunch and being selected as Fleurs. From the morning of registration day to May Day the Fleurs and their seniors became the closest of friends. Despite the inevitability of college, the girls have still managed to keep their sense of humor.

As well as being assets to all of the varsity teams, the junior boys also excel in various academic areas. They all agree that Dr. Hall's English class takes up most of their time, but they all manage to attend parties on the weekends.

Due to their strong class unity, the juniors think that they can make it through their senior year and on to college.

Sophomores

The Sophomore Class agrees that the highlight of their year was learning to drive. For the Sophomore girls, the most exciting aspects of 1981-1982 were Varsity and JV athletics, dating, parties, and the Freshman-Sophomore Dance. After placing second in the annual can drive, the Sophomore Girls were given Senior Study for a day by the winning Seniors. The girls are looking forward to doing the Brunch and receiving their class rings in their Junior year.

The Sophomore boys were also happy to have the chance to participate on Varsity teams. Miraculously, Mr. Richard Truscott was able to teach these boys Chemistry without having his lab blown up — although there were a few close calls.

Freshmen

The students in the class of 1985 were met with new experiences when they entered the Upper School this year. They adjusted quickly, however, to playing on varsity and JV teams, attending dances, and sitting through joint chapels. They especially enjoyed the new additions to their class: Maggie Derian, Leigh Hall, Catherine Crooks, Betsy Henry, Michele Werner, Doug Corkran, Andy Brownstien, Bill Moore, and Geoffrey Jacobi.

The ninth grade, with these new students, strengthened the Upper School in 1981-1982 and is looking forward to the upcoming years.

Eighth Grade

The eighth graders enjoyed many special privileges and activities. During assemblies the fifth, sixth, and seventh graders stood up for the eighth grade girls. Before they marched in, Mrs. McKinley always exclaimed, "Girls, chins up, shoulders back, and hands down." The girls also enjoyed being able to try out for JV teams and cheerleading. Being hostesses at the musical and singing in the Christmas pageant were other exciting activities.

The highlight of the eighth grade boy's year was their football season with wins over St. Bridget's and Fork Union. Many students say that being the oldest is great while others excitedly anticipate their first year in the Upper School.

Seventh Grade

Along with their added privileges, the seventh graders were plagued with new responsibilities. They did not enjoy their first exams, but they all agreed that the experience made them feel older. The class was also freed from homeroom period and began to feel like adults, with changing classes and harder teachers. According to one seventh grade boy, "hanging out with girls" was a privilege that made all the added challenges bearable.

Some of the girls' favorite teachers were Mrs. Dallas Cocke, Miss Sue Jett, Mrs. Carol Witt, and Mrs. Adrienne Philips. The boys especially enjoyed Mr. Weldon Bradshaw and Mr. Ben Greenbaum.

All in all, seventh graders felt that the 1981-1982 school year was a big step up for them.

Sixth Grade

No longer the youngest grade in the Middle School, The Class of 1988 contributed their talents to the many facets of Collegiate life. The sixth grade boys enjoyed playing soccer under Coach Kent Gay and learning new things in school. Even though their courses were harder, the boys still enjoyed their daily school life. Lunch time was a favorite. "We get a little rowdy", according to one sixth grade boy.

While the boys preferred athletics, the girls took a more artistic approach. They performed in the sixth grade musical and The American Sampler. A field trip was taken by the girls who agreed it was really fun. Both boys and girls agreed that cotillion ranked high on their list of activities. Hunter Fogg summed up the year by saying, "Sixth grade is lots of fun if you know how to stay out of trouble."

Fifth Grade

As the youngest grade in the Middle School, some fifth graders wished that they were still in the fourth grade. As the year progressed, however, the Class of 1989 began to appreciate their new Intermediate life. This life included being cherubs in the Christmas Pageant, using the "big" library, and having two hours for athletics.

When the spring finally came, and the experienced fifth graders were asked to show the fourth graders around the Upper School, one girl confided, "the Upper School isn't that bad!"

Fourth Grade

The fourth graders adjusted well to their year of new experiences and responsibilities. Under the strong leadership of Mr. Cliff Miller, the Class of '90 headed the Junior Council, the monitoring organization of the Lower School.

Besides learning to change classes, the fourth grade also had to work more and play less. Even though the oldest grade in the Lower School had a difficult year academically, they managed to have fun watching the Halloween Parade, presenting their plays and finally graduating. As concluded by Helen Sexton, "I'm looking forward to graduation and having all girl classes."

Third Grade

In the 1981-1982 school year, it seemed that the third graders always stayed busy. Whether it was singing Christmas carols for parents, having chapel services about Noah's Ark, or playing double-dodge, the Class of 1991 always seemed to have fun. Some of the girls even had boy-friends!

The general consensus of these maturing students was that they disliked work, but loved their teachers and recess. As the work got tougher, however, they always reminded themselves that next year they would be in the fourth grade.

Second Grade

After surviving kindergarten and first grade, the second graders enjoyed being in the middle of the lower school. But this year had its ups and downs — fortunately though, more ups than downs. The boys played soccer and baseball with Mr. Chambers while the girls played on the merry-go-round at recess. Some of the more unfortunate occurrences of 1981-1982 included those little "visits" to Mr. Miller's bench and the races between boys and girls through the halls. Look out third grade, the class of 1992 is on their way!

What do you like about the first grade? One enthusiastic first grader exclaimed, "Recess! I love to swing, ride the merry-go-round, and chase girls!" Besides recess, reading good books, taking field trips, and doing math take up plenty of their time. Eating lunch at school is something new for them. One of the hungrier students said, "I love lunch; I can't eat enough." Of course, there is the usual feeling that some of the school work may be just a little harder than kindergarten, but Jeff Anchell, another first grader, when asked whether or not first grade was hard, simply said, "Nah."

Kindergarten

Kindergarteners are special. They are the youngest Cougars and even have fun with their school work. The Class of 1994 is the only class that has a shortened work day. "Aren't we lucky?", exclaimed one enthusiastic kindergartener.

Recess provides a break that every kindergartener enjoys. While they love to swing, slide, and climb on the playground, their favorite activity is playing on Fort Cougar. When an energetic student unexpectedly fell off Fort Cougar, he sprang up, brushed himself off, and went off about his business.

All kindergarteners agree that they like their teachers a lot. William Darr summed up his first year at Collegiate best when he said, "I love school because Mrs. Christman makes it fun!"

Our Fearless Leaders

Sports

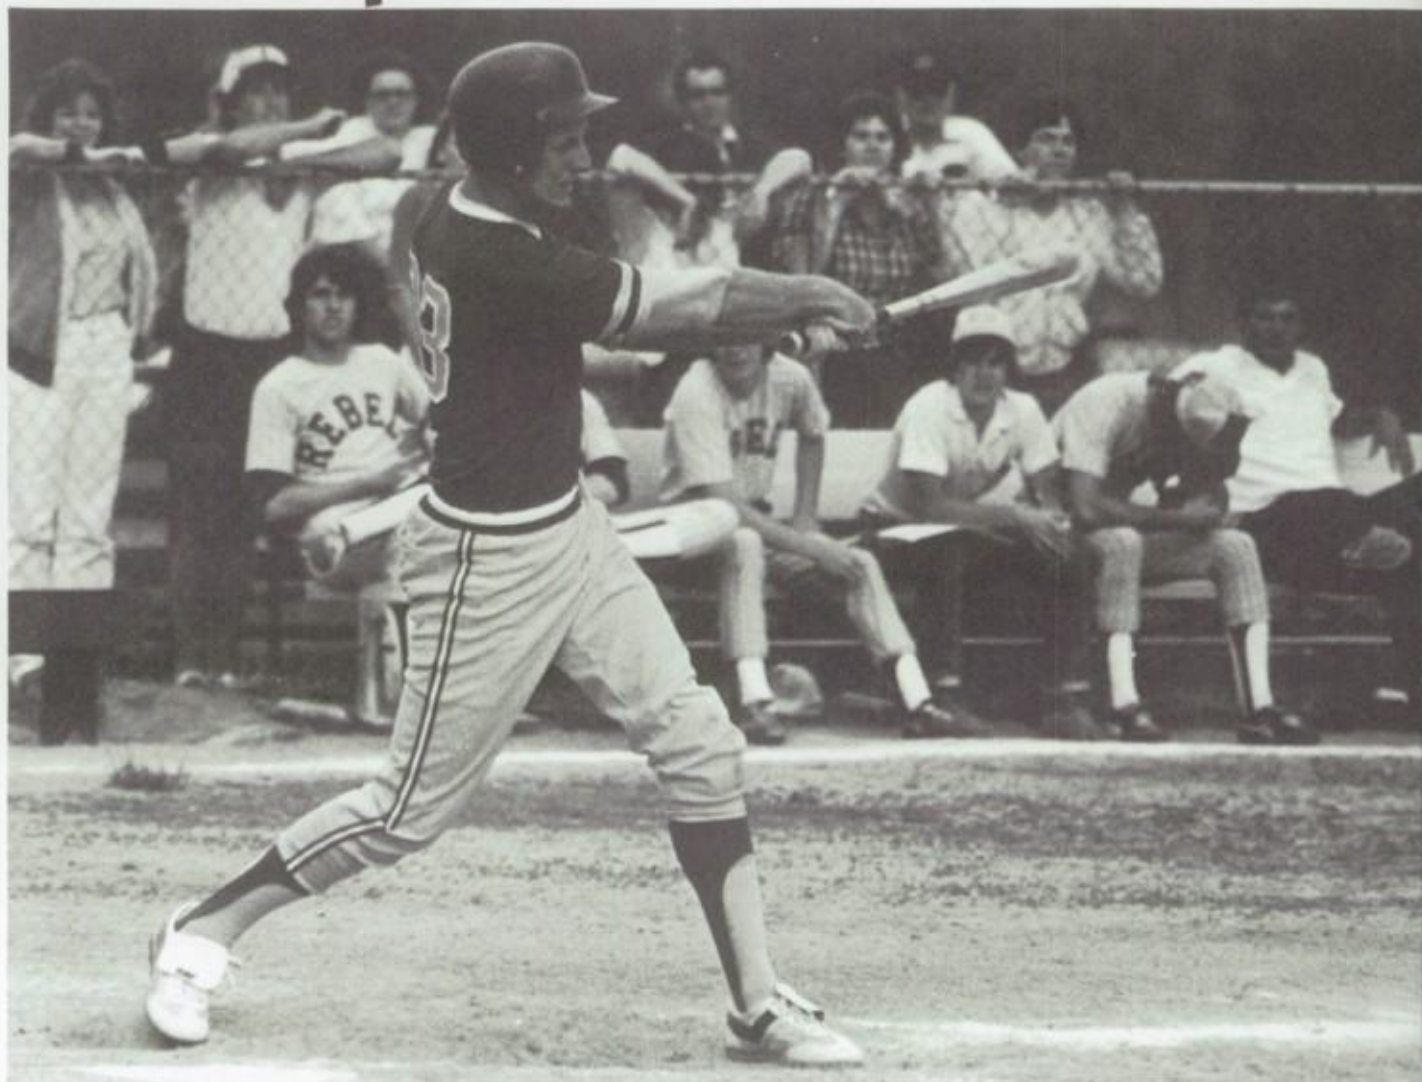

Competition . . . It exists in different forms throughout the cycle of life. Through athletic competition, we can rejoice in victory, commiserate in defeat, and glow with the knowledge that we performed to the best of our ability. At Collegiate, sports are an integral part of school life. Whether we are cheering after one of our many victories, or discussing the most recent games over lunch, we are all part of the athletic legacy at Collegiate.

Prep League Champs

The 1981 Varsity Baseball team was the end of an era. That era was the Coach Petey Jacobs era in Cougar baseball history. Mr. Jacobs ended his reign as coach by winning yet another Prep League Title. Helping Coach Jacobs achieve this honor in style was the talented pitching duo of Doug Massey and Rob Hamner. Both pitchers were praised for their diverse styles as well as their no-hit form. Supplying the hitting power were first baseman Lee Warfield and second baseman Bubba Paris, who also played American Legion ball over the summer. Scott Wimbish, Russ Daniel and Ted Lowe also played key roles for the League Champs.

Although Mr. Jacobs has retired his influence will remain with us at Collegiate for a long time.

J V Baseball

Under the guidance of Coach Carl Parrish and Coach Joel Nuckols, the JV baseball squad had yet another impressive season. The team continued its traditional cycle with two losses to Stonewall Jackson and impressive wins over Trinity Episcopal and St. Christopher's. Although some cycles continued, others were broken. Tri-captains Frank Mountcastle, Patrick Murray, and Scott Sutton provided the leadership as the team defeated Douglas Freeman 6-0 in their first meeting of the year, with freshman Chip Joseph hurling the shutout. Sophomores "Boog" Cecil, George Mehford, and Greg Robins filled the gaps created by the absence of the 1980 team's stars, and juniors JoJo Bugg and Taylor Massey also helped out.

This excellent JV squad will combine with the returning varsity team to keep Collegiate's winning baseball tradition going.

Golf Putts Along

The 1981 Golf Team had enormous potential. With returning lettermen, Jimmy Wiley and Harry Ganteaume, the Cougars anticipated a winning season.

Captain Jimmy Wiley had trouble lining up six players for each match. With Charles Johnson playing lacrosse and Frank Mountcastle playing baseball, Paul Baird and Billy Tiller were able to participate in many of the matches. The fantastic improvement of Slaughter Fitz-Hugh and Gavin Goodner contributed to the success of the team.

Memorable events during the season included the fireworks in Florence and the McDonald's runs in Aiken.

Next year's team looks promising although Johnson will be at Woodberry and Goodner will attend Vanderbilt. Coach Carl Parrish will guide the team through a tough and exciting schedule in his first year as head coach.

Shooting For The Finals!

For the first time ever at Collegiate the Varsity Lacrosse team had a winning season: nine wins and five losses. Most of the credit for this successful record must be given to the coaches, Mr. Chip Tompkins and Mr. David Corrigan.

The team was supported by a large group of Seniors including Pete Waldbauer, Walt McGraw, Lex Dunn, and Eric Kelley.

After losing their first four games, the Cougars rebounded by winning nine of their next eleven matches. The season was full of excitement. The team, for the first defeated Norfolk Academy and VES and was invited to the state tournament in Charlottesville. The Cougars won the first match against Albemarle, but lost in the semi-finals to Woodberry Forest.

Team members receiving high honors were Walt McGraw and Pete Waldbauer, who were voted first team all state, and Lex Dunn, who made the All-Prep team.

ETCETERA

Spirit, dedication and humor were the factors that kept the 1981 Girls Softball Team going. Though embarrassed by a no-win season, the girls never gave up hope. With the addition of a new coach, Mr. Dave Wright, and new equipment, the team became more experienced. They scored seven runs against a very competitive Marymount team. The girls were effectively led by co-captains Sheri Cantor and Michelle Adams. Sophomore Susan Patterson concluded that "With more organization and involvement, the team will be a success."

While the Girls Softball Team practiced on the fields, Canoeing, under the direction of Mr. Ed Green, conquered the waters of Tuckahoe Creek. Although they did not canoe competitively, they took many exciting field trips.

Softball and Canoeing were not as visible as other spring sports, but they were an important part of that season.

A New Team

Under the direction of Coach Mike Thompson, the newly-founded JV Lacrosse Team finished their season with a record of 7-1. The only loss incurred by the team was a 9-2 setback from Norfolk Academy. Even though most of the team members had never played lacrosse before, the squad beat St. Christopher's 5-3, Blue Ridge 4-3, and Woodberry Forest 4-1, thus becoming the first Collegiate lacrosse team to defeat all three in a single season.

Freshman Gordon Stettinius led the team in scoring with 11 goals, while sophomore Paul Thompson and freshmen C.R. Langhorne and Brad Nott anchored the defense, allowing only 25 goals. Co-Captains Billy Goode and John Harper provided the leadership necessary for this team to be unofficially the number one JV lacrosse team in the state.

Multiple Talents Aid Team

The 1981 Spring Track team was led by tri-captains John Shaia, Trib LaPrade, and Charlie Carmine. These three, combined with an abundance of multi-talented athletes, finished first in the Fourteenth Annual Prep League Meet. The Cougars outscored their rival, St. Christopher's by 33 points. During the meet, Trib LaPrade soared to a new pole vault record of 15 feet.

Prior to the Prep League victory, Coach Jim Hickey took six of his finest relay men and his pole vaulter to the Penn Relays. He expected them to do well, and they did. The 400 meter relay team placed fifth and the mile relay team placed third. Most exciting was the announcement that Trib LaPrade had been named the most outstanding high school performer at the meet.

This superb season, combined with the Penn Relays successes, can be attributed to the efforts of a well-balanced team.

Many Games In The Pocket

Dedicated is a word which is often used to describe a hard working, devoted team. The Girls Lacrosse Team certainly was dedicated. Starting in early March, an optimistic group of girls began practicing daily. After Spring Break, the hard work paid off — no girl who tried out was cut. But things got tougher with practice from three to five everyday. Coached by Miss Dot Harrop, the girls worked diligently on defense, stickwork, and speed. "Suicides" and "Wind Sprints" were some of the fun drills.

After a disappointing loss to Walsingham Academy in the opening game, the A team did not let their spirits fall. At the end of the season they placed second in the Norfolk Academy Invitational Lacrosse Tournament.

19 Wins And 1 Loss

With long hours of practice beginning before Spring Vacation behind them, the 1981 Varsity Tennis Team was ready for their first match at the end of March. By May 16, they had completed one of the most successful seasons ever at Collegiate. Coached by Mr. Powell Johann and Mr. Wirt Hatcher, this strong team lost only to St. Christopher's throughout its twenty match schedule. Especially exciting were the tough wins over Tucker and Freeman.

The well-balanced group was led by seniors Steve Master and Dave Walsh and juniors Tim and Thad Polk. In the Prep League Tournament, hosted by Collegiate and St. Christopher's, the team placed second, justifying the hard work of each player.

The JV Tennis Team also had a good season. Coached by Mr. Gary Allen, the team managed a record of 8-1. These young players will be a help to the Varsity Team in the years ahead.

Varsity Girls Tennis

The '81 Girls Tennis team, coached by Mrs. Gwen Donahue, was led by Seniors Liza Little and Suzanne Woodfin. With the strength of the underclassmen, the tennis team was able to keep their heads above water. Outstanding players included Sophomores Lauren Deep and Mimi Vaughan and Freshman Mary Stuart Cocke.

Because of the experience of the underclassmen, the Girls Tennis Team was able to find success in a tough season.

Spirit

The goal of the Cheerleaders in 1981-1982 was to improve school spirit at Collegiate.

Led by co-captains Teresa Alvis and Blair Chandler, the varsity squad organized Pep Rallies, painted signs, and cheered at as many games as possible. The JV cheerleaders, besides attending most ninth and tenth grade games, participated with the varsity at the Homecoming activities.

This year, for the first time, The cheerleaders sold "Go Cougars" towels to encourage spirit and support at both girls and boys athletic events.

The varsity cheerleaders were especially proud of their new bright yellow uniforms which added color to the year.

John Haisley commented, "What would a football game be without cheerleaders?"

Pep Club

Walking down the halls in their bright green and yellow uniforms, the Pep Club was hard to miss in 1981-1982. The squad cheered at many of the Girls Basketball and Hockey matches and gave encouragement to tired team members.

Led by Louise Coldwell and Linnea Billingsley, the Varsity and JV Pep Clubs attracted students and inspired spirit at each event that they attended. One student commented that twice as many students cheered at the games thanks to the hard working Pep Club.

It is obvious that the Pep Club members helped the cheerleaders bring enthusiasm to the 1981-1982 year at Collegiate.

Bouncing Back

Collegiate's 1981 Varsity Football Team came as close as possible to winning the Prep League Title. With just two games remaining, they were first in the league and were ninth in the city. VES and St. Christopher's, however, managed to steal the final two games from the Cougars in exciting contests.

After a 2-8 season in 1980, the team finished 7-3 this year and placed fourth in the Prep League. All-Prep players included: Jeff Armstrong (offensive end), Gordon Fogg (linebacker), and Bill Kelly (offensive line). They, along with senior quarterback, Vint Myers, who recovered from a broken thumb, were the major factors in this year's turn around. Speedster David Shannon and defensive backs Tim Spivey and Scott Wimbish also contributed tremendously to the total team effort.

The squad was extremely young, consisting mainly of sophomores and juniors, and eagerly anticipates the 1982 season.

Team Better Than Record Shows

With the addition of two new coaches, the JV Football Team had an energetic and spirited season. The new coaches, Mr. Jim Hickey and Mr. David Corrigan, and returning coach, Mr. Joel Nuckols led the team to a 3-4 record, which most of the players believed did not depict the team's true ability.

Led by co-captains Deane Cheatham and Walter Spence, the team played difficult and challenging games. Despite their rigorous schedule, the squad was victorious over tough rivals Fork Union, Trinity Episcopal, and VES, and as Deane Cheatham said, this shows that, "the record was no factor."

A Search For Victory

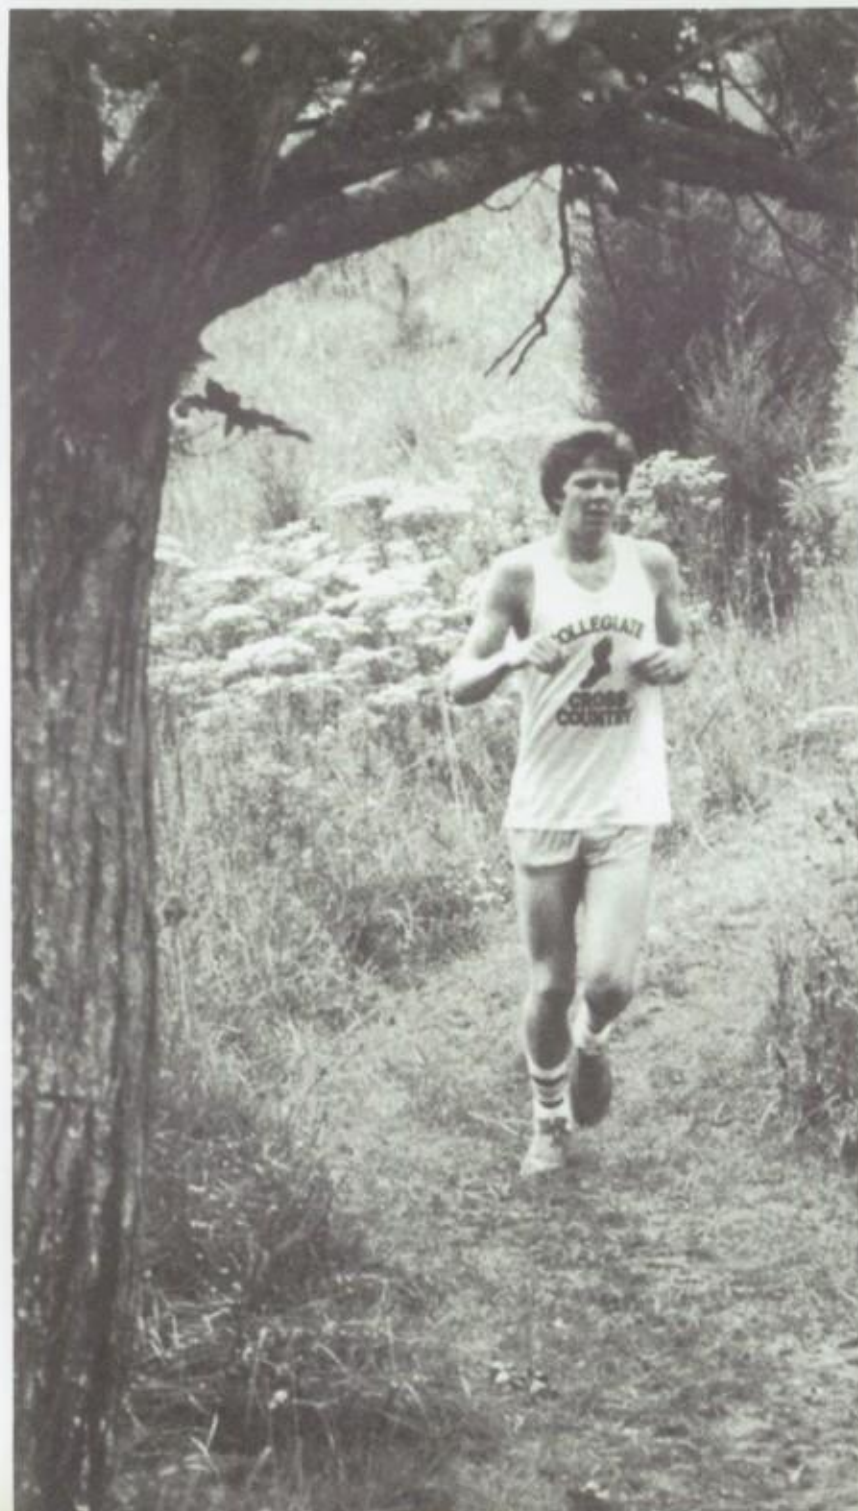

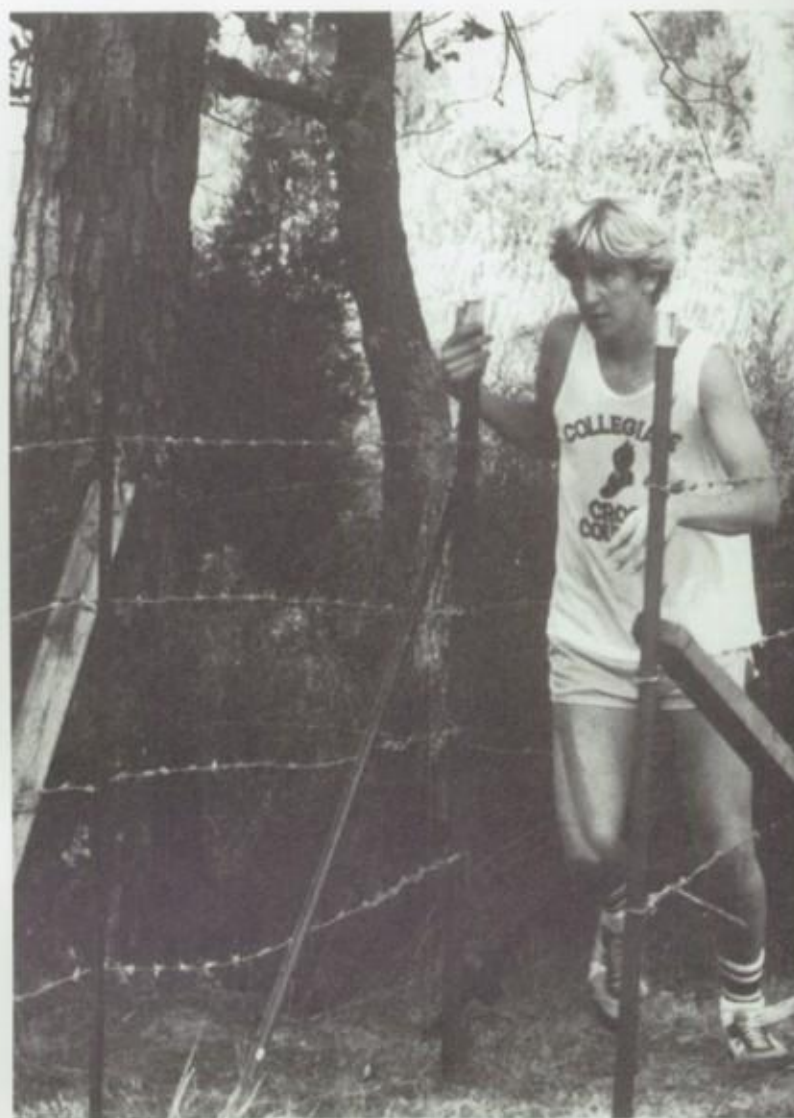

What group of athletes is willing to run over 500 miles per season in the wind and rain searching for victory? Of course, it's the Varsity Cross Country Team.

This year's team, led by co-captains Billy Goode and Chris McKinley, managed to obtain an impressive 6-3 season. Coached by Mr. Weldon Bradshaw and Mr. Ben Greenbaum, the team came in third in the Prep League Meet and sixth in the State Meet.

The squad, consisting of ten runners, was able to beat such rivals as Trinity Episcopal and Norfolk Academy. "Mr. Bradshaw inspires us to do well," explained one junior.

Virtually all of the team will be returning next year, including the "stars": Goode, McKinley, Warner, and Nelson.

Rives Fleming explained that, "the best part of the season was the win over Woodberry Forest, while the worst part was trying to take the team picture."

85 Goals

This year's Varsity Hockey Team survived hard practices, the habitual mile runs, the tough competition to have a winning season.

With Coach Carol Witt emphasizing stickwork and passing and the senior tri-captains, Frannie Blanton, Anne Overton, and Linda Martin stressing unity, the team had one of its best seasons ever. The A-team offense was led by Frannie Blanton, Sarah Northen, Lisa Coleman, and Beth Curry. Ann Scott, Sarah Dalton, and Anne Overton led the defense. The B-team was strengthened by Lee Moreau on offense and Sheri Cantor as goalie.

Losing only to Trinity Episcopal, the squad had an awesome season with 85 goals. They were third in the Allied Tournament and second in the regular season. The miles, the drills, and the advice obviously paid off.

Eighth Grade Strengthens JV Team

Despite an off-beat year, the JV Hockey Team built a strong foundation for next year's team. Although losing many fine players to the varsity, Coach Dot Harrop acquired an excellent group of eighth graders who proved to be a valuable asset.

Led by sophomore co-captains Meredith Fitz-Hugh and Anne Patteson, the team managed big wins over both St. Margaret's and St. Gertrude's. The Cougars offensive threat was freshman Courtney Boyd who was the team's leading scorer.

This dynamite combination of girls helped produce a terrific season.

Coach of the Year

This year's Varsity Soccer team made astonishing progress. From a winless season to a record setting season, soccer has begun to establish a tradition at Collegiate. Coaches Charlie Blair and Frank Watkins started the change with a new attitude for the team. An attitude of commitment and hard work produced a team with class and strength, but the long runs and two-a-day practices paid full dividends.

The reason certainly contained many cycles, as brilliance shown with the peak of the cycle. The team was led by an aggressive and attacking defense highlighted by all-Prep Jon Prevatt and goalie Chris Shaie. The midfield usually dominated by co-captain Harry Ganteaume, and co-captain Mark Massey, who led the scoring.

The year ended on an upswing, with the Cougars beating the Saints twice in one season for the first time in Varsity Soccer history, and Coach Blair receiving Coach of the Year honors.

JV Hustles

This year's JV Soccer team, under the direction of Coaches Charlie Blair and Frank Watkins, was led by four sophomore players. Rohan Hazra and Bo Noonan led the offense as wings and John Lower, sweeper, and Mark Brown, goalie, were able to stop their opponents from scoring.

The team's record was 3-2-1, and Rohan Hazra commented that "Although we were inexperienced, we made up for it with a lot of hustling. We are looking forward to a very successful varsity season next fall."

Snow Slows Soccer

This year's Girls Soccer Team started out with good intentions. The team began practicing well before Christmas vacation. Finally a Girls varsity sport had an actual future. Unfortunately, many of the games were cancelled due to the January snows.

Leading the team were Juniors Lauren Deep and Hannah Reeves and Freshman Beth Turnbull as forward line players. The team was backed with strong defensive players, Senior Sheri Cantor and Junior Sarah Dalton. One team member said that, although the team has a lot of enthusiasm and aggressiveness, it was weak in technical skill. As the season progressed, the team, (mainly composed of freshmen and juniors), became more competitive but was still unable to beat their rival, St. Catherine's. During this game, the Cougars scored their first goals of the season, and many judged that it was the best game that the team had played. Junior, Daphne Bickel stated, "Soccer was fun this year, but would have been better if we hadn't had to run at all!"

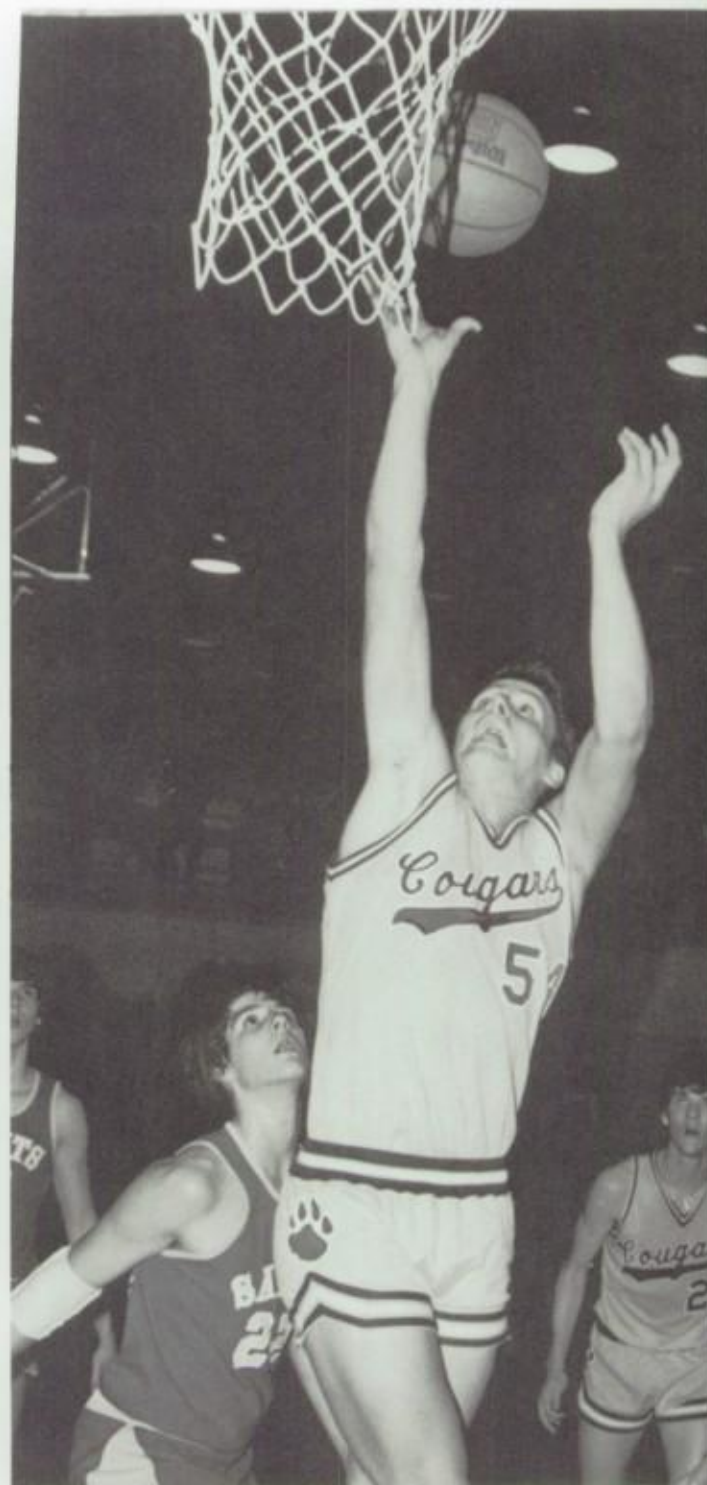

Upper: First Row: S. Lublin, F. Williams, S. Dalton, S. Cantor, J. Whitaker, S. Mohanty, I. Tactor; Second Row: F. Hopper, B. Turnbull, A. Holsinger, A.M. Shaia, K. Walker, J. Schneider, H. Varsity Overwhelms Fans

The Cougars up-and-down season almost culminated with a surprise victory as Collegiate (seventh seed) played Trinity Episcopal for the Prep League title in the tournament. After recovering from early season setbacks against RMA and Tucker, the Cougars surged to a 5-3 mark. A disappointing loss to Benedictine, however, ended December in defeat. In January, the Cougars lost two games in overtime while winning only one game against Gill. Coming into the Prep League Tournament, Collegiate had lost six in a row including a 28 point setback against Woodberry Forest. But the Cougars rebounded in the tournament downing Fork Union, 26-20, and Woodberry Forest, 37-32, in double overtime. In the championship game, Trinity Episcopal was once again the Cougars foe and thwarted the team's bid at a third upset, 38-25, although the game was closer than the score indicated.

Although Mr. Bill Chambers will lose Russ Daniel, Bubba Paris, and John Robins, much talent will return with the Class of 1983.

JV Shows Promise

This year's JV Basketball Team, coached by Mr. David Corrigan, improved their record from 8-8 last year to 11-7. Led by Sophomores Ted Lowe and Chip Joseph, the team received help from Junior forward George Mehford, Sophomore center Jerry Booth, and Freshman guard Mike Brost. Substitutes Bill Moore and John "Smitty" Smithson complemented Brost's soft jump shots and Joseph's superb ball handling.

The Cougars faced formidable opponents in the Prep League such as Trinity, Episcopal, Woodberry Forest, and St. Christopher's, Benedictine, and Gill outside the League. But as these players improved their skills this year on the JV squad, they all look forward to someday be stars with the varsity.

Team Builds For Future

This year's Girls Varsity Basketball Team was led by three strong underclassmen, sophomores Beth Curry and Lisa Coleman, and Freshman Lee Moreau, the team's high scorer. Juniors Mary Webber and Michele Adams rounded out the varsity squad.

The team has a promising future with such dominating freshmen and sophomores. The team, however, did not lack experience of senior players. Courtney Allen, Jackie Whitmore, Anne Overton, and Junior Ann Scott helped lead the team.

The team finished the season with a record of 6-5. They placed third in both their league and tournament. The B-team finished well, led by Freshmen Laura Frayser and Courtney Boyd.

Coach Gwen Donahue commented her 1981-82 team had a "fun year" with "a lot of improvement."

Shooting For The Stars

The Girls JV Basketball Team, coached by Mrs. Carol Witt, relied on the leadership of tri-captains Sheryl Robins, Meredith Fitz-Hugh, and Mary Bennett. Peyton Rowe was the team's high scorer with a forty point season. The team was also supported by Anne Patteson, Mary Catherine Stagg, Marianna Graeber, Kim Wright, and Carty Mayfield.

The highlight of the team's season was their exciting victory over St. Catherine's.

The team Captain, Sheryl Robins said, "We had a good year and our players will help the varsity team in future seasons."

"Winter Track"

When you think about winter, the last thing in your mind is running on a track. When the Winter Track team had its first meeting in November, Coach Jim Hickey told the members about the negative points of Winter track. Some of these negative aspects were, practicing in all types of weather, no "Snowy Day Athletics", and the lack of support from the school. At this point several team members dropped off the team. This left Winter Track with an unusually small team.

The team was led by co-captains Charlie Carmine and David Shannon, both of whom set many school records. The team started off with a big victory over St. Christopher's which prepared them for the East Coast Invitational at the Richmond Coliseum. In that meet, they performed perfectly. Then the defending champions travelled to EHS to participate in the Hoxton Invitational where they finished second behind an excellent Episcopal team. Then it was on to the biggest meet of the year, the Prep League Championship. Although there were six inches of snow, and the temperature was below freezing in the St. Christopher's field house, the Cougars performed superbly, but, to their dismay, they finished a close second by only one point. All in all, the team was excellent and looked forward to winning the Spring Championship for the second year in a row.

No one can afford to "play" with his money anymore. Your money should work for you. Investment isn't a luxury—it's a necessity with inflation constantly eating away at the value of the dollar.

Shopping the Market.

There's no question the stock market is and always was a wise investment for the educated investor. The key word is "educated." Being educated means understanding risks and calculating them. It means careful analysis and daily attention to detail. While most investors have the common sense not to squander good money in get-rich-quick schemes, they seldom have time to understand the complexities of the market. The wise investor relies on his stock broker who, being involved in the market every day, can help keep his clients informed.

If brokers are so smart, why aren't they rich?

A disciplined investor doesn't grab at every "hot tip" that comes down the pike. If he did, he'd soon go broke. He learns the relationship of risk to reward. At Scott & Stringfellow, we strive for the highest return with the lowest possible risk. That means solid, dependable companies with proven earning records. It means buying in a bearish (down) market when the values are good, and selling in a bullish (up) market when the risks are increasing. There is no such thing as a guaranteed high return, low risk investment. If there was, we'd all be rich.

S. Buford Scott Chairman
Scott & Stringfellow, Inc.

What Moody, Standard and Poors, Value Line, and Dow Jones have in common.

Scott & Stringfellow. The input that goes into every client's decision to buy or sell even surprises us sometimes. Investment success means having your finger on the pulse of the market without ever missing one of its heartbeats. It means short and long term planning. Professional diagnosis. Analysis. Prospectuses and reviews. Thousands of bits of critical information are processed every hour in our offices. All of which boils down to two words: "buy" and "sell." And at the right time.

Talk is cheap.

Particularly in the stock market. It's full of "could have's" and "if only's." You can't capitalize on hindsight. You can only learn from the past to make more intelligent decisions for the future.

If you've been thinking about the market, then come see us.

With its 89 years of experience, Scott & Stringfellow has learned how to look ahead. We'll tell you about it. Our advice is free, but definitely not cheap. It's the voice of experience.

These offensive linemen are impenetrable.

O Give me a home
Where the buffalo roam
And the coons are snug in the trees.
Bull Moose is asleep,
Two Saints in the jeep
And a pig swings gaily in the breeze.

Tigers in the truck
Helping folk who are stuck
And a bears outside on the dink.
P'Chats in the house
Chasing out Minnie Mouse
And R-2 has taken to drink!

Cycles

Cycles . . . They are ever-present in our lives. We often find ourselves experiencing similar situations at different times: a major part of the maturing process. We are constantly moving from one level to the next, attaining goals, and starting over. The graduating fourth-graders, eighth-graders, and seniors all have the same sense of accomplishment, but they also know that they must conquer a new situation next year. The Collegiate experience is just one of the many cycles within each of our lifetimes.

In Memoriam

Dan Russell
Zappia
1969-1982

We knew Dan Zappia only briefly, yet in these few months we found him to be a compassionate person, sensitive to the needs and feelings of others, a sincere and friendly person who was just beginning to make his mark, and a person who loved his family and treasured his friendships.

His death has left us sadder but wiser, a bit more reflective, and definitely more appreciative of our blessings and of each other.

Thanks, Dan, for being with us.

Weldon Bradshaw

Although we knew Karen and Dan for such a short period of time, we did learn much from them during their time at Collegiate. If we look for quality rather than quantity, the Collegiate community has greatly benefited from the relationship with the entire Zappia family. We can only pray for the Zappia family, that they may see the light of God with the thought of reunion in our later life.

Chris Shaia, Torch Editor

Karen Jeanette
Zappia
1967-1982

Although we knew Karen for only a short time, we will never forget all the love she gave to her family and friends. In her soft spoken way, she helped us appreciate all life had to give. She was a person filled with determination and able to overcome all obstacles in her way. Karen had a permeating personality and was willing to help anyone around her. We only wish we could have returned all the love which she gave to us.

Tenth Grade Girls

How does one say good bye to a friend like Karen? We knew her for only five months, yet she was sensitive to other's needs and influenced her friends in so many ways. She was a California girl, yet she successfully became a Virginian. She loved her Collegiate friends and leaves us with fond memories of her enthusiasm, warmth, and humor. There was only one Karen, and all of us who knew her are richer for the experience.

Roger Hailes
